AllergyEats Partners with MiniMunchers to Make Dining Out Easier for Families

AllergyEats, the Biggest & Fastest Growing Source for Finding Allergy-Friendly Restaurants, & MiniMunchers, the Ultimate Resource for Children's Menus, Help Families Improve their Experiences Dining Out in New York City

BOSTON, MA (September 19, 2011) – Dining out is a pleasure for many families, but can often be frustrating for families with food allergies or intolerances. Now, AllergyEats (www.allergyeats.com), the biggest and fastest growing online source for finding allergy-friendly restaurants, has just partnered with MiniMunchers (www.minimunchers.com), the ultimate resource for children's menus in New York City, to make it easier for families to dine out in the Big Apple.

"MiniMunchers is excited to partner with AllergyEats, as families who have allergy sensitivities need to know more than the standard information when dining out," said Carla Sullivan, founder & Mommy Muncher for MiniMunchers.com. "MiniMunchers offers a complete list of kids' menus and AllergyEats provides valuable allergy awareness information, and together, we eliminate the guesswork (and anxiety) when dining out."

"AllergyEats provides amazingly valuable information for families and individuals who need to find allergy-sensitive restaurants. I wish I had thought of it," Sullivan continued.

"We're thrilled to partner with MiniMunchers, which does a terrific job of spotlighting kids' menus at restaurants throughout New York City. Families can use both the MiniMunchers and AllergyEats sites to make more informed, thoughtful decisions about where to dine out, reducing their stress and uncertainty," said Paul Antico, Founder of AllergyEats.

"As the parent of five children – three of whom have food allergies – I like to research restaurants in advance, to know how well they accommodate children in general, and food-allergic children in particular. Now, I have the added resource of MiniMunchers, allowing me to peruse the kids' menus at thousands of New York establishments before selecting a restaurant," Antico continued. "Our partnership strives to make dining out easier, safer, more comfortable and more enjoyable for families."

About MiniMunchers

MiniMunchers is the go-to website for families on the move in New York City, and for those who visit the Big Apple with children in tow. This free resource allows users to search for and research Manhattan's restaurants specifically for their children's menus. MiniMunchers also offers reviews on restaurants' kid friendliness (from a NYC mommy's perspective), tips for dining out, kid-friendly restaurant recipes and much more! For more information, please visit www.minimunchers.com.

About AllergyEats

AllergyEats, a free, user-friendly resource, provides valuable peer-based feedback about how well (or poorly) restaurants accommodate the needs of food allergic customers. Most restaurant review sites include information about establishments' food, ambiance or service, but AllergyEats is singularly focused on food allergies, with peer reviews spotlighting where people with food allergies or intolerances have more comfortably eaten and where they've encountered challenges.

AllergyEats provides well over 600,000 restaurants nationwide, which users can rate. The peer ratings and feedback allow food allergic and gluten intolerant diners to quickly and easily find restaurants that will more likely cater to their special dietary requirements – and avoid the ones that won't. Users can use both the core AllergyEats website and their new smartphone app for iPhone and Android phones to easily access information, such as menus (including gluten-free menus), allergen lists, nutrition information, certifications, web links, directions and more. For more information, please visit www.AllergyEats.com.
